Dear Bongo,

My name is Geneva. I am 6 years old. I love your comics, and so does my older brother. Girls like Bongo Comics, too. I like Homer the best. D'oh!

Thanks for the drawing, Geneva! Sounds like you and your brother are super sophisticated siblings! Annoyed Grunt!

Dear Bongo Comics,

I love the Simpsons, Futurama, and all of the other comics that you make. I was wondering if maybe you could try another series for the Simpsons Comics. It could be Krusty the Clown or Itchy and Scratchy comics.

I also have a question. I've heard of a series that you did called "Life in Hell." Could you please give me a brief summary what it's about?

Finally, I would like to show my gratitude for the amazing comics you make each year. I'm going to put 25 cents with this letter. Just think of it like a tip for a waiter at a restaurant.

Thank you and stay at it!

Sydney, you're the best! You're also the first fan to ever send the Bongo staff a tip! We're going to frame it and hang it above the cash register. We've already featured Itchy & Scratchy and Krusty in their own mini-series, but we've never collected the Life in Hell series.

"Life in Hell" was Matt Groening's comic strip that ran for over 30 years in newspapers across the world. I think it's safe to say that without that strip, "The Simpsons" would never have existed!

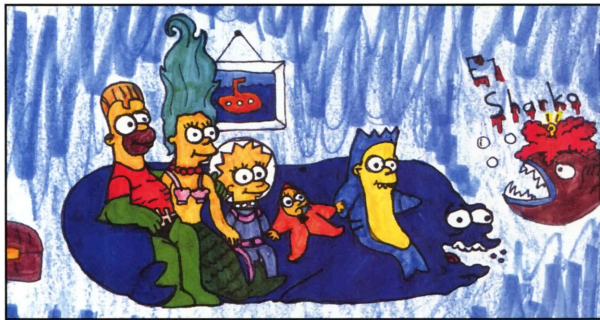

Hi Bongo!

My name is Katherine Avanzino, and I love your comics! (You must get that last part a lot!) My dad, Peter Avanzino, used to be a storyboard artist on "The Simpsons," and now he works as a supervising director on "Futurama." I have been drawing the characters since about when I was six and have been watching "The Simpsons" since I was about seven or eight.

Thank you for making each new issue as amazing as the last!

Katherine Avanzino
Los Angeles, California

You're making us blush with all this praise, Katherine. We love the drawing! Tell your dad we said, "Hi!" and "Thank you!" for all his amazing work on both "The Simpsons" and "Futurama."
